Proactive business and financial advisory services,
in the heart of the city.

SUPPORTING, ADVISING & PROTECTING YOUR BUSINESS

From overseas conflicts to the cost of living crises, to economic instability at home and abroad, trading conditions have been rife with uncertainty for Scottish businesses. However, while there are still doubtless challenges ahead, there are also opportunities for businesses to flourish.

Having the necessary advisory support to guide your business through these challenges and opportunities is essential to growth, sustainability, prosperity and success. Yet we frequently speak to businesses that are unable to access this support from their audit and accountancy firm. Many have either outgrown their existing advisers or, increasingly, their existing advisers have outgrown them, and successful and profitable small and medium-sized businesses are often left feeling isolated and unsupported. This is where our dedicated team of local advisers can really make a difference...

WE DON'T JUST PROVIDE ACCOUNTANCY SERVICES, WE BUILD RELATIONSHIPS

As the largest independent firm of accountants in Scotland, and across the North of England, we at Armstrong Watson pride ourselves on being a large, local firm. Following the merger with Martin Aitken & Co in April 2025, Armstrong Watson boasts a team of over 150 Glasgow colleagues and 850 team members nationwide. With the same local resource and capability of most large, London headquartered firms, and 19 locations across the North of the UK, we are truly local to our clients, allowing us to be responsive and proactive, while also fully immersed in the business communities that we serve.

Our combination of scale and local focus allows us to work differently from most other firms, giving our clients 'the best of both worlds' - the capability of a large firm and the relationship-led client service ethos of an independent.
